LIFE INSURANCE.
NANTUL'S (Mutual Life) Insurance Company, No. 38, Wall Street.—After mature deliberation, the Trustees have become convinced, and the experience of old established companies fully warrant the conclusion, that the advantages of life insurance on the Mutual plan, may be extended and diffused with greater convenience to a large class of contributors, and with equal security to all the assured, by requiring no greater amount of the premium to be paid in cash than the company will require to meet its engagements with promptitude and fidelity.
It has accordingly been determined that in all cases where the annual premium shall amount to $50, and 60 per cent thereof shall have been paid in cash, an approved note may be given for the remaining 40 per cent, payable twelve months after date, bearing six per cent interest. The interest to be paid annually, but the principal not to be called in unless the exigencies of the company require it, giving sixty days notice, and then only by assessments pro rata to the extent that may be required to meet the engagements of the company.
It is confidently anticipated that a system, the operation of which is so fair and equitable, so well calculated to place the benefits and blessings of life insurance within the reach of all, and at the same time enable each contributor to share equally and fully not only in its beneficial security but also in its profits of accumulation, will meet, as it is believed to deserve, the favor and confidence of the public.
The particular advantages offered by this company, are:
1. A guarantee capital.
2. An equal participation in the profits.
3. No individual responsibility beyond the amount of premium.
4. Those who insure for a less period than life, participate equally in the annual profits of the company.
The Nantulas company confines its business exclusively to insurance on lives, and all insurance appertaining to life.

THE DAILY COMMONWEALTH.
FRANKFORT.....FRIDAY, JAN. 15, 1847.
KENTUCKY LEGISLATURE.

IN SENATE.

THURSDAY, JAN. 14, 1847.

The Senate was opened with prayer by Rev. Mr. Norton, of Episcopal Church.
Petitions were presented by Senators Brien, Hawkins and Evans.

Standing Committee.

Mr. HARDIN, from Committee on Judiciary, reported a bill for the benefit of Jacob Mayo, late Clerk of Floyd County and Circuit Courts, authorizing him to issue certain fees bills; passed.

Mr. WALKER, from Committee on Propositions and Grievances, reported a bill from H. K., for the benefit of Robert A. Wright, authorizing him to bring a slave into this State. (The petitioner states that he purchased of his father-in-law, in Tennessee, a girl to whom his wife was partial, to wait upon her, and desires to bring said slave home.) Upon the question of engrossing the bill and ordering it to be read a third time, the vote stood as follows, viz:

YEAS—Messrs. Ballard, Bradley, Bramlette, Brien, Bristow, Crenshaw, Draffin, Evans, Hardin, Harris, Hawkins, Heady, Helm, Holloway, James, Marshall, Patterson, Peyton, Rice, Russell, Slaughter, J. Speed Smith, South, Swope, Taylor, Thomas, Thurman, Todd, Walker, Wall and Williams—31.
NAYS—Messrs. Butler, Fox, Henderson, McNary and Thornton—5.

The bill was passed without a count.

Also, a bill for the benefit of Joseph Crow, of Allen county, authorizing him to bring six slaves into this State. (The petitioner states that his father-in-law died intestate, in the State of Missouri, and in the settlement of said estate he agreed to take more than his interest in the slaves, paying the difference, in order to save the necessity of parting man and wife, and wishes to bring those slaves home.) The bill was passed.

Also—a bill for the benefit of N. S. Robertson, authorizing him to bring eleven slaves and their children into this State. (The petitioner states that some five years since, he purchased a farm in the State of Missouri, intending to remove to that State. He sent his slaves to cultivate his farm. His wife subsequently died, leaving an infant child, which she requested on her death bed should be committed to the care of her mother, residing in Barren county in this State. He is unwilling to leave his child, and wishing to comply with the dying request of his wife, has determined to sell his farm in Missouri, and desires to bring back his slaves.)

Mr. HEADY proposed the following amendment as an additional section to said bill:

Be it further enacted, That it may be lawful for any person, or persons, to bring into this State, any slave or slaves, that they may choose to do for their own use, and not as merchandise.

Mr. CRENSHAW called the previous question, which was sustained by a vote of 22 to 14.

On ordering the bill to be engrossed and read a third time, the vote stood as follows, viz:

YEAS—Messrs. Ballard, Bradley, Bramlette, Brien, Bristow, Crenshaw, Draffin, Evans, Harris, Helm, Holloway, James, Marshall, Patterson, Peyton, Rice, J. Speed Smith, South, Swope, Taylor, Thomas, Thurman, Walker, Wall and Williams—23.

NAYS—Messrs. Boyd, Brien, Butler, Fox, Hardin, Hawkins, Heady, Henderson, McNary, Russell, South, Thornton and Todd—13.

Mr. HARDIN in giving his vote, remarked that he had voted to admit slaves by the company, but could not stand a regiment.

The bill was passed without a count.

Also—a bill for the benefit of Benj. Payne, authorizing him to bring three slaves into this State. (The petitioner states that he emigrated from Maryland into this State in 1843, and that he then owned, and now owns three slaves, which are in the State of Maryland, and desires to bring them here.)

On ordering the bill to be engrossed and read a third time, the vote stood as follows, viz:

YEAS—Messrs. Ballard, Bradley, Bramlette, Brien, Bristow, Crenshaw, Draffin, Evans, Harris, Hawkins, Helm, Holloway, James, Marshall, Patterson, Rice, J. Speed Smith, South, Swope, Taylor, Thomas, Thurman, Walker, Wall and Williams—25.

NAYS—Messrs. Boyd, Butler, Hardin, Heady, Henderson, McNary, Russell, Thornton and Todd—9.

The bill was then passed without a count.

Also—a bill for the benefit of John Moss, authorizing him to bring three slaves into this State. (The petitioner states that he went to Tennessee to collect some money due him, and standing in need of the services of a negro woman, took her and her child with him—that she had since given birth to another child, and he desires to bring them all into Kentucky.)

On ordering the bill to be engrossed and read a third time, the vote stood as follows:

YEAS—Messrs. Ballard, Bradley, Bramlette, Brien, Bristow, Crenshaw, Draffin, Evans, Harris, Hawkins, Helm, Holloway, James, Marshall, Patterson, Rice, J. Speed Smith, South, Taylor, Thurman, Walker and Williams—23.

NAYS—Messrs. Boyd, Butler, Heady, Henderson, McNary, Swope, Thornton, Todd and Wall—9.

The bill was then passed without a count.

The chairman announced "one more left of the same sort," and reported a bill for the benefit of Samuel T. Crews, authorizing him to sell a runaway slave in this State. (The petitioner states that he lives in the State of Missouri, and is the owner of a slave who escaped from him and fled to the county of Madison in this State, where his wife lives, and declares a firm determination to escape to a free State, if any effort is made to take him back to Missouri. He therefore wishes permission to sell him in the neighborhood of his wife.)

On ordering the bill to be engrossed and read a third time, the vote stood as follows, viz:

YEAS—Messrs. Ballard, Bradley, Bramlette, Brien, Bristow, Crenshaw, Draffin, Evans, Harris, Hawkins, Holloway, James, Marshall, Patterson, Rice, Russell, Slaughter, J. Speed Smith, Swope, Taylor, Thomas, Thurman, Todd, Walker and Williams—24.

NAYS—Messrs. Boyd, Hardin, Heady, Henderson, McNary, Peyton and Wall—7.

Mr. J. SPEED SMITH, from the committee on Internal Improvement reported a bill for the benefit of F. G. Everett, which was read and re-committed.

Mr. JAMES from committee on Finance reported a bill for the benefit of Levi Pendly of Hopkins county, allowing him compensation for keeping an idiot; passed.

Select Committee.

Mr. FOX, from Select Committee, reported a bill for the benefit of John Jones and others, legitimizing them; passed.

Mr. HAWKINS, from Select Committee, reported a bill for the benefit of Moses S. Rice, surveyor of Boone county; passed.

Also—a bill for the benefit of Edward Graves, Coroner of Boone county; passed.

Mr. BOYD from Select Committee, reported a bill to organize the Flemingburg Fire Engine and Hose company; passed.

Leave was given to bring in the following bills, viz: Mr. J. SPEED SMITH—a bill authorizing a chancery term of the Nicholas circuit court.

Mr. WILLIAMS—a bill for the benefit of Silas M. Berry and others.

Mr. RUSSELL—a bill for the benefit of James Davidson, Treasurer.

Mr. MARSHALL—a bill for the benefit of G. W. Smith of Hart county.

Mr. EVANS—a bill for the benefit of the Sheriffs of this Commonwealth.

All of which were referred.

Mr. BUTLER—a bill to incorporate the Grand Division of the Sons of Temperance in Kentucky.

By permission Mr. Butler reported said bill and it was referred to committee on Judiciary.

Mr. RICE offered a resolution which was adopted, instructing the committee on Judiciary to inquire into the expediency of making it a criminal offence in any one, to sell or contract for sale of lands of which he may not be the owner.

On motion of Mr. BUTLER, Senate adjourned.

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES.

Prayer by the Rev. Mr. WATERMAN.

After the journal of yesterday had been read, petitions were presented by Messrs. W. S. Botts, Mayhall, Hobbs and Smith, which were appropriately referred.

Leave was granted to Mr. BOWMAN, to bring in a bill to allow an additional Constable to Casey county; referred.

To Mr. HALL—a bill to authorize the construction of a road; referred.

To Mr. BUSH—a bill to legalize the proceedings of the seventeenth regiment of Ky. militia.

Mr. WHEELER reported a bill to provide for running and marking the line between Campbell and Pendleton counties; passed.

Mr. JONES reported a bill authorizing the courts to grant divorces. The bill having been read was rejected.

A message was received from the Senate, announcing the passage of sundry acts and bills.

The unfinished business of yesterday was then taken up; being the report of the committee on Propositions and Grievances, for the removal of the county seat of Mason county.

Mr. MERIWETHER wished to submit a few statistics to the House, which he had prepared upon this subject. He had no desire, nor was he able, to go into a discussion of this bill, but he would submit three statistics to the consideration of the members of the House.

Mr. STEVENSON had intended to give a silent vote upon this question; but there were some principles asserted yesterday, which he could not assent to. They had reference not to Mason county, or Kentucky alone, but to the whole country, and the whole world. These principles were, that majorities had not an absolute right to determine questions in which they had an interest. It was a principle, the advocacy of which, Lord Coke considered the brightest jewel in his splendid coronet. It was one of the glorious features which we had caught from the mother country. He did not wish to see it trampled upon, or denied. What would be the results, if the gentleman who asserted this doctrine, should carry it out? If a majority should not decide such questions, what number should be competent to do it? Should it be two thirds or three fourths?

Mr. S. read from the act authorizing the removal of the county seat of Bracken county, and showed that in that case the determination of the controversy was left to the majority of the county.

He thought a majority of eight and a half per cent, was quite competent. Such a majority in the whole State would be decisive on the Convention question.

While he asserted this principle, he did not wish to hold out an inducement to unsteady legislation—he did not wish to sacrifice the independence of the Legislature. It was their duty to see that while justice was done to one party, the other was not wronged. But the time for Washington to submit her grievances had passed. She had submitted to a vote, and now she should abide by the decision of that vote.

He next adverted to the record of the vote in Mason county. From the construction of the act authorizing the vote, it is evident that the neutral column should be deducted from the whole vote. But since Washington and Maysville had both assented to the submission, he must now consider it his duty to decide according to the vote of the county. It was to settle excitement in the county, that he was induced last year to submit the question to the people; and for that very reason he would now enforce that decision.

Mr. S. alluded to his position in his own county. The county of Kenton which he had the honor to represent, had been mentioned in the course of this discussion. He resided in Covington. The Court House was located twelve miles from Covington.—The question of a removal of the Court House had been one of fearful excitement. He had told his people that as a representative, he would obey the will of the majority, but as an individual, he would vote against Covington if it was to be at the expense of social relations and the ties of private life. After some other observations on the subject in general, Mr. S. concluded.

Mr. DEVEREUX wished to explain the position which he took on yesterday. It was, that on a question involving in its decision, the existence of a local grievance, such as the removal of a seat of justice—that unless the grievance does exist, in fact, from evidence shown in the force of a petition, or in connection with the petition, or in support of the popular vote given, that it is not an abandonment of the republican rule of majorities governing to say, that in the absence of other proof than the allegations contained in the vote, or on the face of the petition given, showing that the grievance exists—that in the absence of such proof, the major vote is not conclusive upon the merits of the question.

Mr. DESHA then moved the previous question.

Upon the suggestion of Mr. WILLIAMS, the roll was called, and the Sergeant-at-arms instructed to bring in the absentees.

The vote was then taken on the final passage of the bill, and the yeas and noes being called, the vote stood yeas 50 noes 45. Mr. WILLIAMS having voted in the affirmative for the purpose of a reconsideration, moved a re-consideration. He supported his motion at length, and discussed the bill generally.

Mr. MARSHALL followed in reply, insisting especially upon the absolute right of majorities to rule in all cases, whether general or local.

Mr. TOWLES remarked briefly upon the democracy of his friend Mr. Wayne. On this bill they thought alike.

The roll having been called, and every member being in his seat, the vote on the re-consideration, was taken and resulted, yeas 52, noes 46.

The vote was then taken on the final passage of the bill under consideration, and was as follows: Yeas—Messrs. Speaker, Alnut, A. G. Botts, W. S. Botts, Bush, Clark, Crawford, Covington, Dickerson, J. Elliott, M. Elliott, Fletcher, Foley, Gilbert, Glenn, Graves, Hall, Hanson, Hobbs, Hord, D. Irvine, J. Irvin, Jones, Marshall, Mayhall, McArthur, Mitchell, Moore, Munford, Page, Pearl, Phillips, Poor, Proctor, Rouse, Smith, Spurr, Steele, Stevenson, Stewart, Talbott, Tandy, Thomas, Thompson, Walker, White, Wright and Young—48.

NAYS—Messrs. Abell, Alexander, Armstrong, Beeler, Bell, Board, Bowman, Bowmar, Boyd, Bradford, Brown, Cobb, Coleman, Crockett, Desha, Devereux, Durbin, English, Evans, Haggard, Hager, Harrison, Hay, Hoy, Ireland, Johnston, Jones, Jordan, Mansfield, Martin, Mays, McCallister, McHenry, Meriwether, Morton, Oglesby, Owens, Purdon, Reed, Rhea, Riddle, Salter, Soery, Spalding, Stevens, Towles, Vertess, Wade, Waller, Wheeler, Williams, and Wortham—52.

So the bill was rejected.

The House then adjourned.

CONGRESSIONAL.

IN THE SENATE.

THURSDAY, JANUARY 7, 1847.

ENLISTMENTS IN THE ARMY.

Mr. BENTON, from the Committee on Military Affairs, reported a bill to encourage enlistments in the Army of the United States.

Mr. BENTON asked for the immediate consideration of the bill, and his request was assented to unanimously.

Mr. BENTON then explained the provisions of the bill. There were but two main features. One was that the enlistment should be for five years or during the war, at the option of the recruit; and the other was that there should be paid to each soldier a bounty of twelve dollars, one-half to be paid down, and the other half when mustered into his regiment for service.

Mr. CRITTENDEN said that, in the present state of information which they had upon the subject of the war, he should very cheerfully give his vote for this bill. It became somewhat necessary, however, that they should know how long the war was likely to continue; and with this view he would take the liberty to inquire of the chairman of the Committee on Foreign Relations whether any information had been received by this Government as to the result of the deliberations of the Mexican Congress in relation to the proposition which was understood to have been forwarded some time ago from this Government for opening negotiations for a peace, and which proposition, they were informed, was to be submitted to the Mexican Congress at its meeting which had taken place some forty days ago.

[The chairman of the Committee on Foreign Relations not being in his seat at this moment, there was no response to this interrogatory.]

Mr. CRITTENDEN continued. If it were proposed, he said, to carry on this war for any length of time, he thought it would be far better to increase the army by enlistments than to make sudden and frequent calls for volunteers. He thought that the necessity of the case required that they should carry on the war vigorously. His sentiments in relation to the war itself were well known and need not be repeated. He regretted the war, he deplored it, and wanted to see it ended, and he should vote for such measures as seemed best calculated to bring it to a speedy and honorable conclusion. And, in his opinion, according to the best view that he could take of the subject, there were no means better calculated to effect this object than to prosecute the war with vigor. And so long as he remained of this opinion he should be ready to vote for the supply of adequate means for its vigorous prosecution. He had heard other modes suggested, one of which was that our army should fall back and take a position upon such a boundary as this Government intended to adhere to, and leave the Mexicans to act on the offensive and to prosecute the war against us or not, at their option. He wished he could believe that this mode was the one which was most likely to bring the war to a speedy and satisfactory conclusion. But if they were to adopt this course he feared that they would be totally at a loss to know when the war was ended. It was the sword only that could put an end to it; if they were to cease from active operations they would be obliged to stand with arms in their hands, ready at all times to meet any attack which the enemy chose to make; and it seemed to him that a war carried on in this lingering sort of way would lead to the worst results, as regarded considerations of humanity, or any other. He would be obliged to any gentleman who would convince him that there was any other mode more humane, more economical of expenditures, of bringing it to a close; but until convinced that there was such a mode, and believing that their only alternative was to bring it to an end by a vigorous prosecution of the war, however deplorable the consequences, he was ready to vote for such measures as tended to promote a vigorous prosecution of the war.

Mr. BENTON said, perhaps the honorable Senator would be able to answer his own question, when informed that there had been no mails received from the city of Mexico since the period of the assembling of the Mexican Congress. As the honorable Senator contemplated voting for this bill, he presumed there would be no opposition to its passage, and he would ask, therefore, that it be read a third time this day.

Mr. ARCHER said he believed that Senators on both sides of the chamber concurred in the sentiments expressed by the Senator from Kentucky, as to the propriety of passing this bill; and he was not aware that any gentleman would be reluctant to accede to the request of the chairman of the Committee on Military Affairs that it be passed this day.—An inquiry had been addressed by the Senator from Kentucky to the Chairman of the Committee on Foreign Relations, and as that gentleman was not now in his seat, it might be proper that some other member of the committee should state, as he now did, (having the honor to be one of the members,) that no communication had been yet laid before that committee in relation to the honorable Senator's inquiry. The probability, therefore, he thought, was, that no answer had been received by this Government. The honorable Senator from Kentucky, in announcing his readiness to support this bill, had taken occasion to express an opinion as to the mode in which this war should be conducted. He believed there was no Senator on either side who was not anxious for an opportunity to express the opinions he entertained in relation to the conduct of the war heretofore, and the best means to be adopted for bringing it to a speedy and honorable termination. But he did not think that such opportunity was properly afforded by this bill. For his own part, whatever opinion he entertained in regard to the origin and antecedents of the war, he was determined to go as far as any man in yielding all necessary supplies; but he did not mean to go as far as the Senator from Kentucky seemed to have done, and to declare his views, or even to intimate an opinion, as to what would be the best mode of conducting the war with a view to that result which all so much desired.

He did not think it expedient, for many reasons, to do so at this time, but would content himself with giving his vote for such supplies of men and money as he supposed would conduce to the success of our arms.

Mr. CRITTENDEN. The honorable Senator from Virginia, seems to think that I have blundered along in this matter very unadvisedly.

Mr. ARCHER. Not at all sir. I imputed no such thing to the Senator.

Mr. CRITTENDEN. I think the gentleman has somewhat misapprehended me. I have not expressed any opinion, much less committed myself, as to any particular mode or project for terminating the war, but merely stated that I had heard it suggested that the best policy would be to abstain from any further active contest, and to fall back upon what may be designated as the boundary, and there await the further action of the enemy.

After a few further remarks by Messrs. CRITTENDEN and ARCHER, in relation to this point—

The question was taken on ordering the bill to be engrossed and read a third time, and was carried.

On motion Mr. BENTON, by unanimous consent, the bill was then read a third time and passed.

The following bills were then severally read a third time and passed:

A bill declaring the assent of Congress to certain States to impose a tax upon all lands hereafter sold by the United States therein, from and after the day of such sale.

A bill for the relief of the legal representatives of John Rice Jones, deceased.

The adverse report of the Committee on Printing, "that the memorial of the inhabitants of the parish of St. Mary's, in Louisiana, in relation to the repeal of the tariff of 1846, be not printed," came up in its order; when—

Mr. SIMMONS moved to strike out the word "not." On this motion a highly animated and interesting discussion took place, in which Messrs. SIMMONS, CASS, CHALMERS, JOHNSON, of Louisiana, ARCHER, ATHERTON, JOHNSON, of Maryland, and others participated.

Mr. SIMMONS demanded the yeas and noes on his motion, which were ordered.

And the question having been taken, it was decided in the affirmative, as follows:

YEAS—Messrs. Archer, Badger, Cilley, Thos. Clayton, J. M. Clayton, Corwin, Crittenden, Davis, Dayton, Greene, Huntington, Jarnagin, Johnson, of Md., Johnson, of La., Mangum, Miller, Morehead, Pearce, Simons, Upham, and Woodbridge—21.

NAYS—Messrs. Ashley, Atchison, Atherton, Bagby, Benton, Bright, Butler, Calhoun, Cass, Chalmers, Dix, Houston, Lewis, Niles, Sevier, Speight, and Turney—17.

A message was received from the House of Representatives informing the Senate that it had passed the bill to encourage enlistments in the army of the United States with an amendment; which amendment having been read, was concurred in by the Senate.

We yesterday conversed with a gentleman from Tampico; he left there on the 27th ult. A letter dated the 8th ult., at San Juan de Arosa, had been received by a merchant in Tampico. The writer, who was his partner in business, informed him that Santa Anna's force at San Luis Potosi was subsequently 37,000. On the 10th two days subsequent, 7000 of them—cavalry—under the command of Colonel Gonzales, were to leave—for the direction of Victoria, it was supposed. If the contemplated attack on Saltillo, by Gen. Santa Anna, should be successful, then an attack would be made on Tampico, by Col. Gonzales. The bitter hostility of the whole people of the country is now aroused against our army, and they pant for an opportunity to carry it into execution. It is one which we hope will not soon be given them.—N. O. Delta, 5th.

Why is it, that our friends of the Georgetown Herald, receive our daily paper irregularly? The paper is mailed to them regularly every day.

WHAT NEXT!—The editor of the Pennsylvania (democratic) calls Gen. TAYLOR a Federalist! Is not that rich!

NORTH CAROLINA.—The Legislature of this old State has gone to work nobly. A good common school system is to be adopted, and a Geological survey of the State to be made.

THE NEWS FROM SALTILLO.

MORE OF SANTA ANNA'S MOVEMENTS.—The following letter, which came to hand after our edition of Sunday was printed, puts to rest all doubt as to the fact that advice was expressed from General Worth, at Saltillo, announcing the march of a large Mexican force towards that place. With what intentions Santa Anna has thrown forward men in this direction, time only can solve; but if the force has not been overestimated, it may be his plan to cut up our army in detail.

At the last accounts, Gen. Wool was at Parras, about 120 miles, if we mistake not, north of west of Saltillo. Our correspondent evidently entertains a doubt as to the practicability of his forming a junction with Gen. Worth. It would seem good strategy, on the part of the enemy, to throw a large force between Saltillo and Parras, make a diversion with a portion of the troops against Gen. Worth, while the main body of the army falls upon Gen. Wool. Apprehensions that such may have been the case, are discernible in our correspondence. If Santa Anna had any of the spirit and capacity of the great military commander to whom he vain-gloriously likens himself, he would have done some such thing long before this. Here is the letter:

CAMARGO, MEXICO, Dec. 19—12 at night.

By an express last night from Gen. Worth, which arrived at half past 1 o'clock, we learn that Santa Anna is advancing upon Saltillo and Monterey, as is said, with 30,000 men; and all the available force from this place and vicinity is ordered up to those points with the least possible delay. At the same time a requisition has been received for a large supply of ammunition to be forwarded immediately. The express from Saltillo arrived at Monterey on the evening of the day Gen. Taylor left that place for Monte Morales, on his way to Victoria. He had probably made thirty miles from Monterey with his army intended for the occupation of Victoria, but this intelligence will no doubt cause a counter movement to sustain Monterey and Saltillo.

I do not speak certain, but think Gen. Taylor can meet Santa Anna with 6,000, and not more, as a portion of his force under Generals Patterson and Pillow, has been withdrawn from here to hold Tampico. I know nothing of the defenses at Saltillo, but Worth is there, and what any man can do he can and will.

It strikes me that if Santa Anna has the force which is reported, that it would not be policy to bring on a decisive action now at Monterey, but by surrounding the place, cutting off supplies and communications, and detaching a portion of his force to attack the depots and connecting links with the Gulf; which must be left weak by the drawing off supports for Monterey and Saltillo; that such would be his best chances for success. This depot, for instance, which is the one from which Gen. Taylor's army draws its supplies, is without defenses, and I am told is to be left with one company of artillery, one company of dragoons (not mounted), and one regiment of Indiana volunteers, and there are "sinews of war" enough here to make "the game worth the candle."

From last reports Gen. Wool had not yet formed a junction with Gen. Worth; and it is thought by some problematical whether he would be able to form one, in consequence of the advance of the enemy placing themselves in a position between the two forces. I am not advised of the route Gen. Wool's column will take from Parras, and therefore can give no opinion as to the accuracy of this reasoning; but one thing is certain—we are on the eve of important events, and I think by the next arrival I shall chronicle to you matters of stirring interest. We will see what we will see.

Yours truly, &c.

DIED.

In Lincoln county, Ky., January 6, BENJAMIN BEGGS, aged 86 years, one of the Revolutionary patriots, and among the earliest permanent settlers of the State. He came from Virginia to Logan's Fort, in the year 1777, with Benjamin Logan and others, guarding munitions of war to that Fort. Since the days of Indian hostilities have ceased, his life has been one of peace and prosperity, and he has lived to bury many of his own family and friends. His children still live to feel the pang of nature that death ever inflicts, in removing the father from the family to another world. And though now he be no more, his posterity will remember him as one that endured hardships in hard times, to procure for his rich blessings we now enjoy.
